THE FUNERAL YESTERDAY-TRIBUTES OF RE-SPECT FROM THE WASHINGTON BAR.

Washington, Dec. 27 .- The funeral of the late Edwin M. Stanton took place to-day, and was very largely attended. The services consisted only of the service as prescribed by the Protestant Episcopal Church, which were performed by the Rev. Dr. Starkie of the Church of the Epiphany, of which the deceased was a member, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Pinckney of the Churchlof the Ascension, and the Rev. Dr. Sparrow, Principal of the Alexandria Theological Seminary.

Among those present were President Grant, with the officers of his household, Vice-President Colfax, all the Senators and Representatives now in this city, the members of the Cabinet, the Judges of the Supreme and District Courts, all the officers of the army on duty in the War Department, and the principal officers representing the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps. Gen. Canby was with the family of the deceased. The mother of Mr. Stanton, who arrived here to-day, was in company with Gen. T. T. Eckert. The Diplomatic Corps was repre sented, Minister Thornton being among those present The City Council, members of the bar, and a large number of other citizens were also in attendance. Only a few intimate friends of the family were privileged to see the face of the deceased previous to closing the coffin in the chamber where Mr. Stanton died.

At 11 o'clock a detail of one sergeant, one corporal and eight men of Battery F, 5th Artillery, in full uniform, brought the coffin from the chamber to the parlor, and subsequently bore it to the hearse. The floral display was very fine, the coffin being covered with wreaths, crosses, and bouquets of the choicest varieties of flowers. Some of the floral offerings were accompanied by cards with expressions of affection and condolence.

A delegation from the Union League Club of New-York arrived here this morning to attend the funeral. There were, probably, a hundred hacks, beside many private carriages, in the procession. The hearse was drawn by four gray horses. Although it was raining, thousands of persons gathered in the simmediate vicinity of the resiience of the deceased to witness the proceeding attendant on the funeral. Policemen in force kept the pavements and carriage-way clear of obstructions. The remains were conveyed to Oak Ridge Cemetery for inter-

The family of the deceased have received numerous sympathetic telegrams and letters from public men. In the several Courts in the District of Columbia, to-day, in the several Courts in the District of Columbia, to-day, resolutions were adopted with reference to the death of Mr. Stanton. The members of the har, and citizens also, held meetings on the same subject, at which speeches were made culoristic of the decased. The National Executive Committee of the colored men of the nation, represented by George C. Downing, President; Sella Martin, Vice-President; Prof. Vashon, and Mr. Revels, were assigned a position in the funeral procession by the City Councils. Major Delaney and Major Augusta, the first colored officers commissioned by Mr. Stanton, were present. RESOLUTIONS OF THE UNION LEAGUE OF PHIL-

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27 .- A meeting of the Union League was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in ref erence to the death of the Hon. Edwin M. Stanton. The Hon. Charles Gibbons offered the following resolutions:

That the members of the Union League of Philadelphia unite with the friends of the country in the expression of profound sorrow for the death of Edwin M. Stanton, which we deplore as a national bereavement; that we remember with gratitude the faithful and successful management of the War Department of the Government by Mr. Stanton; his fearless disregard of popular prejudices; his firmness and honesty in the performance of his duties, which were as essential as the army itself to the successful conduct of the war, and contributed largely to preserve the life of the nation. We remember and honor him as a power in the administration of President Lincoln which no adversity could paralyze, which withstood the fiercest storms that expended their fury upon it, and which seemed lifted up 'as "a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night," to contirm and strengthen the faith of the American people in the great cause of human libertly; that we respectfully tender to the family of Mr. Stanton our warmest sympathy in their affliction, and ask their acceptance of these resolutions as a tribute of our respect for his memory and of our appreciation of That the members of the Union League of Philadelphia of our respect for his memory and of our appreciation of those public services which render his name illustrious in the history of the nation; and that a Committee be appointed to forward a copy of the foregoing resolutions to the family of Mr. Stanton on behalf of the League. THE GOVERNMENT OFFICES.

As a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Mr. Stanton, but little business was done in the Gov ernment offices in this city yesterday. The Custom House and Sub-Treasury were only open between 9 and 10 a.m., and the Post-Office observed the solemnity of the day as well as the public service would permit.

Over the hotels, and many private as well as public buildings, and on much of the shipping lying at the docks and in the harbor, flags were raised at half-mast.

THE GERMAN REPUBLICANS AND MR. STANTON. At the regular meeting of the German Republican General Committee, held last evening, the following resolutions in reference to the death of Mr. Stanton were unanimously adopted:

Resolved. That we recognize in the deceased a man, who in his whole qualitic career, and especially as Secretary of War during the great struggle for the preservation of the Republic, acted with unswerving energy and mattring activity in the most able and efficient manner for the welfare of his country, and who was among those who, by their elevated position, Sdelity, and directness of purposes, were instrumental in subduing the enterme of our country, and defeating a Rebellion that threatened the lite of the Nation and the foundation of our Republican institutions. Resolved, That while we resignals the great and unsurpassed public services of the deceased, we admire and bring due tribute to his personal character, his spotiess integrity, his develum to the cause of the people and to that consciousness of right, which led him triumphantly through gail the vicessitudes and trains of his responsible position, and will make his name illustrious on the pages of history.

Resolved, That as a true parifich, to whem the salvation of his country was the permanent duty, he never hesisted to employ all the forces and resources of the nation to the accomplishment of that lotty purpose, recognizing no distinction of race or nationality.

Resolved, That is consideration of the great services rendered by him to his country, and his self-sacrificing develon, placing him before the American people as a rare example, worthy of emilation and initiation, we extractly appeal to the sense of justice, propriety and boson of all the Representatives of the Nation in Congress assembled, to recognize by the provision for the bereaved widow and children of the deceased, the high duty which the American people as a rare example people as a tract of the deceased of the deceased as a mark of respect, and to both Houses of Congress.

ADJOURNMENT OF THE U. S. COURTS. In the U. S. District Court-room, where Judge

In the U. S. District Court-room, where Judge Blatchford was holding both Circuit and District Courts, just after the Courts had been onened, yesterday, Assistant District-Attorney B. K. Phelps rose and said:

PEMAJKS OF ASSISTANT DISTRICT-ATTORNEY PHELPS. Since these Courts last met, another great name has been added to the list of the illustrious dead. Mr. Stanton, in a very brief public career, wrought more of his own life into the annals of our history, and made a greater impress of his personality upon the times during the period of our late war than any other man. This is not the time nor an I the proper person to pronounce an e, nor am I the proper person to pronounce pon the character and services of the illustri the time, nor am I the proper person to pronounce an eulogy upon the character and services of the lilustrious statesman and lawyer so suddenly taken from our midst. The energy and talent displayed by Mr. Stanton during his official career as Secretary of War created him many enemies, but none attempted to impugn his honesty or patriotism. He retired from his official career poorer, in pocket and health than when he entered upon it, owing to the great-sacrifices he made for the benefit of his country. It is fitting that on this day, when the funeral obsequies of the lamented dead are taking place at the National Capital, that these Courts should adjourn, as a token of respect to the memory of the departed patriot, statesman and jurist.

REMARKS OF JUDGE REERE.

Capital, that these Courts should adjourn, as a token of respect to the memory of the departed patriot, statesman and jurist.

REMARKS OF JUDGE REEBE.

Ex-Judge Welcome R. Beebe seconded the motion of Mr. Phelps, saying:

It affords me a melancholy pleasure to second the motion just made. A great man has departed, but he has left an impression upon the stirring times when he guided the Ship of State through the storms of civil strife that can never be effaced. Many had complained of his gruffices; but his business was of that nature that he could not take time to indulge in the poetry of conversation. Had he not dispatched business with the rapidity and decision which preeminently characterized him, this nation would never have been born again. In private life none were more amiable and possessed of pleasanter social qualities than Mr. Stanton; but, as Secretary of War, he was in a peculiar position, and any other course of conduct than that pursued by him would have been disastrous to the country.

REMARKS OF JUDGE BLATCHFORD.

Judge Blatchford—It is very fitting that the Courts of the United States—belt Circuit and Supreme; and in both, he was an acknowledged leader. His career at the bar was such as to mark him out for appointment by President Buchsana as Attorney-General, and in that position he rendered great service to his country. Subsequently, as Secretary of War, It is no disparagement to others to say that no man in the history of the world stands out so great a man as he. He possessed marvelous administrative capacity; was a great judge of men; was faithful, fearless, a terror to evil-deers; was not deterred from doing his duty by any personal attacks; hes fated at no personal sacrifices; stood up for his country was faithful, fearless, a terror to evil-deers; was not deterred from doing his duty by any personal attacks; hes fated at no personal sacrifices; stood up for his country was faithful, fearless, a terror to evil-deers; was not deterred from doing his duty by any personal attacks; hes fated

A CORRECTION CORRECTED-MR. HEPWORTH, CHRISTMAS, AND THE UNITARIANS.

To the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: Your paper of Dec. 27 contains a card

Sir: Your paper of Dec. 27 contains a card from Mr. Hepworth, in which I read as follows:

"The Unitarians believe so fully in the providential mission and the divine character and sutherity of Christ that they would be attained yecreant to their own faith were they to ignore this pivotal day. Though they believe that Christ was not food, and hase their belief of the reliterated assertions of the Sevior himself, they yet regard him as a final iterated assertions of the Sevior himself, they yet regard him as a final authority in all religious matters, as a being sent by the Faither on a special mission, and as one to whom they assignatelyed for what makes first life bealthird, and opens up the glories of importainty."

There is one word in this statement, and only one, that needs correction, and that is the word "The" with which needs correction, and that is the word "The" with which at begins, In place of "The" write "Some," and the atatement will be perfectly true; but in its present form It is very far from being so. For it implies a uniformity Josus which does not exist. Unitarians are only agreed to this matter in a belief that Jesus was not God. They differ widely as to what he was. I am fully persuaded that very few of them "regard him as a final authority in all religious matters;" that a large majority of them regard the response of their own reason, conscience, and faith to his and all other revelations as the "final authority." When a conservative Unitarian like Dr. Clarke of Boston writes, in the Old and New, such outand-out rationalism as is contained in his article on "The Perfection of Jesus," the distance between radical Uni-tarianism and Mr. Hepworth's statement must be considerable.

considerable.

For all this, I see nothing in the views of the most radical Unitarians that should prevent them from celebrating Christians. For they are not better awars than other Christian sects that this day, like Easter, originated in a Pagan festival, and that the birthday of Jesus was probably not the 25th of December. As a finiter of fact, Christians is not generally celebrated by Unitarians in their churches; but this not on account of any special views about Levis but because they have a surveyed. in their churches; but this not on account of any special views about Jesus, but because they have always been opposed to the multiplication of ecciesiastical "days and feasts." But the genius of Unitarianism is so hospitable to various forms of 'hought and worship that, without giving a biography of all the Unitarians now living, it would be impossible to tell what they believe and in what forms they worship. THE FRANKING PRIVILEGE - THE MOVEMENT FOR ITS ABOLITION.

The following circular letter has been addressed by Congressman Hill to his constituents in New-Jersey. Mr. Hill is Chairman of the Sub-Committee of three appointed by the House Postal Committee to consider the Franking Privilege and other subjects:

sider the Franking Privilege and other subjects:

House of Representatives,
Washingdon, D. C., Dec. 20, 1802.

To my Constituents of the IVia Compressional Discrete of New Jersey:
A determined effort is now being made to abolish the Franking Privilege. I respectfully ask you to unite with me in the effort to bring it about, by signing the following petition. There are many reasons why it should be abolished. According to the Postmater-General's Report, it is costing the United States Government annually millions of dollars. It would in all probability save the publishing of many hundred thousand dollars' worth of books. It would require each Department of Government to pay its own postage out of appropriations for incidental Expenses of Depa. ments amunally made by Congress. It would require every individual who mails for receives letters to pay their postage, thus granting "equal rights" to all, and all matter passing through the mails thus pay postage. The best reason of all. If all free matter is cut off, and expense of Post-Office Department curtailed, it will become a paying institution, and tend to give us cheap postage, that all alike, the poor as well as the rich, may enjoy its benefits, and not require the poor man's postage, beliep my tor carry. stitution, and tend to give us cheep postoge, that all alike, the poor as well as the rich, may enjoy its benefits, and not require the poor man's postage to help pay for carrying free matter in the mails. It will help to scatter intelligence throughout the country, for when letters and papers can be carried cheap through the mails, the masses of the people will get them, and be benefited thereby. Other reasons could be given why the Franking Privilege should be abolished, but I will stop here, and hope that you will respond to this request by signing the petition attached.

John Hills. The petition is as follows: to the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, in Congress assembled:

Your petitioners, citizens of ——, in the County of

ANOTHER STORY OF GEORGE PEABODY'S LOVE

The Providence Journal publishes the followin his establishment told his love," but caimly cave her up, and saw her m ried to a younger rival. Of the truth of that story I kn nothing, but I can vouch for this that I am now going nothing, but I can vouch for this that I am now going to relate. More than 30 years ago, in the school of John Kingsbury, was one of the fairest daughters of Providence. Her school education finished, she went with friends to Europe, not, however, before having given her youthful affections to a young man whom she had not in a sister city. But before marriage adversity came upon him, and he found himself in no situation to marry. He was not willing she should waste her youth and beauty in waiting through long years, so he released her from her vows, and they parted, she going, as I said, to Europe. There she met George Peabody, then, comparatively speaking, a young man, but one whe was wishes of her friends, perhaps to the prompting idly ambition, who can tell! She became the af I wife of Mr. Peabody. After a little interval she ame back to this country, and soon after er arrival, met her first love. At sight of im all her former affection came back, f, indeed, it had ever left her, and Mr. Peabody, if, indeed, it had ever left her, and Mr. Peabody, with his weatth and brilliant prospects, faded away, and she clung with fond affection to her American lover, and was willing to share a moderate income with him. All was told to Mr. Peabody, and he, with that mailiness that characterized his every action, gave her up, and in due time she was married. I well remember, when in London, 28 years ago, hearing all this talked over in a chosen circle of American friends, and also, at a brilliant dinner party given by Gen. Cass, in Versailles, it was thoroughly discussed. Whether, in his visit to this country, Mr. Peabody ever met his once affianced bride, I cannot say. After several years of wedded bliss, death took her husband from her side.

A Washington correspondent of The Philadelphia Press gives the following personal chat about the late Thaddeus Stevens: The memory of this man will grow with years. When history shall present his character free from the mists of prejudice, it will be found to rank among the names that cannot die. Whatever the reconstruction acts have saved for the future of this mation largely belongs to Mr. Stevens. It was he who from the beginning seized this question with a determination and firmness which nerved the brave and sustained the faltering. Personally, at the outset, we (this writer) thought him wrong. But now we realize the wisdom, forecast, and statesmanship of the man, as well as his invincible moral courage. To-day we were in the house where he died, and talked with his old housekeeper. He desired a simple tablet hid level over his grave, but said, "I suppose, like the rest of the fools, we shall have to get something stuck up in the air; let it be plain." He wished flowers planted at once above his remains and renewed often, and for this purpose he left $1,000. For flowers he had a passion—he planted them always on his mother's grave; also for music, though he said, "I he hanged if I know one 4 une from another." His regret at yielding to the wishes of friends who wanted to make him senator amounted to almost obstinacy. When he left his Washington house for Lancaster, on this mission, urged by, kis partisans, he remarked, "I leave,like a fool." When he came back he said, "And I return like a fool." When he came back he said, "And I return like a fool." His benevolence was alike dispensed to friend and foe. His, housekeeper tells us of a Kebel bey who was sorefooted and starving in Lancaster, and who tried in vain there to get employment or shelter, when he finally applied to §Mr. Stevens. "But why come here!" asked the astonished housekeeper, who really feared that assassination might lurk beneath such appearances." "Well," was the reply, "I have sought in vain for aid among the best men I could hear of; now THADDEUS STEVENS-HIS LATTER DAYS. A Washington correspondent of The Phila-

THE BRADLEY JOHNSON BOND ROBBERY. Jerome Bradley was brought before Justice Hogan at the Tombs, yesterday. The arrest of Bradley and his examination on a charge of having stolen a quantity of bonds from the office of the Dutchess County In-surance (Company, and from the office of Morison, Son & Hutchinson, have been published in THE TRIBUNE. On these charges he was committed in The Tribens. On these charges he was committed in default of $100,000 ball. The charge on which he was arraigned yesterday was forgery, in having altered the names on the registered bonds traced to his possession. Mr. Le Grand Dodge, Treaster of the Dutchess County Insurance Company, charged Bradley with having crased the names on the bonds traced to him, and maering the name of Caleb R. Humphrey of Chicago, Ill. Bradley, on this new charge, was committed for examination to day.

THE DRAMA.

BOOTH'S THEATER. It is very seldom that so fine a piece of acting is seen upon any stage as was seen last night at Booth's Theater, in the Meg Merrilles of Mrs. Emma Waller. The character is one that calls for vivid imagination, acute sensibility, fervid passion intense energy. accurate knowledge of the disordered brain, perfect sympathy with the physical and mental moods of age, and a fine and delicate appreciation of the picturesque; and, in every particular, the requirements of the character were fulfilled. Mrs. Waller stirs in us a feeling of admiration long dormant, and arouses an enthislasm to which we will not give hasty expression. Her personation of Meg Merrilies is a grand, strong, fine, and deeply impressive work of art, and one that we shall return to with genuine interest. For the moment we are content to record its complete and absolute success, artistic and popular. Mrs. Waller has not played in New-York for about seven years-her last appearance here having been made, in Irish drama, al Laura Keane's Theater, now the Olympic. Her return to our stage is a matter for congratulation. So good an acress ought not to be spared from the New-York stage. The play of "Guy Mannering" was produced with beautiful scenery, and was acted exceedingly well is all the parts.

Mr. Theodore Hamilton embodied Dantis Dimnont to the very life, and gained the richly deserved reward of the heartlest applause. Mr. Anderson was accurate and humorous as Dominie Sampson. The misical part of the performance was done in an Jefficient panner. The opening song and jehorus, the first gipsy ang, and Mr. Matthison's scrennde were the musical has of the representation. The performance was altogeter a success. STEAY INCIDENTS. A few stray incidents are to be glaned here and there for the week's theatrical record.-Mr. Lester

Wallack has made arrangements for the poduction of Mr. Boucicauit's new drama, "Lost at Sea, The new piece, however, will not be brought out in a hurry. A revival of "Ours" is promised, and veveral if the popular bills now current are to be repeated. For New-Year's Night Mr. Wallack announces "The School for Scandal." -Mr. Fox will reappear at the Olympic Thater next Monday, the 3d of January, in a play called " he Writing on the Wall." The manager's design, we unwestand, is to present Mr. Fox in a series of character and comedy parts, before reverting to his specialty of pantimime. It is a good idea, and one that ought to succed .- Afternoon performances are given every day at be Circus. This is holiday time for the children, and il the wea creatures would be happier for seeing "Cinterella."-'Wild Oats" will be repeated at Wallack's Theater to night, "Central Park" will be given again on Wednesday. and "Ernestine" and "Trying It On" on Thursday,"Kenijworth," the afterneon piece at Wood' Museum, will be played only until the end of the present week .- Mr. Daly is sufficiently discreet to allow another week to "The Duke's Motto." The piece has been very handsomely mounted at the Fifth Avenue Thater, and we are pleased to notice that it is not to be whisked off before the public has had at least one chance to see it. For the afternoon and evening of New-Year's Day, Mr. Daly announces "Everybody's Friend." Nextweek he will revive "The Busybody," and on the 13th & January will present a comedy by Miss Olive Locan-The San bition; and, in addition to their pantomime o "Hash," they present a comic, sable illustration of the Fat Men's Ball,-Hermann at the Academy of Music topight and to-morrow night.-Various new features, inddental to the burlesque of "Bad Dickey," have been atroduced into the Tammany programme. Bell-Ringen perform, and velocipede riders mount their bounding steds .-- We observe that Mr. Stephen Massett will lecture it the Baptist Church, on Bedford-st., this evening, on thina and Japan. Mr. Massett has visited those countries, and he discourses about them with intelligence and humor .-Three performances will be given in Wood's Maseum, on New-Year's Day.-Mr. Feehter will arrive in New-York this week, and at once commence relearsals at Niblo's Garden. We observe that his last performance of Ruy

Blas, in London, excited the liveliest admiration. A BIT OF STAGE BUSINESS. In a paragraph which we copied the other day from The London Athenaum, referring to Mr. Fechcause, when he says-" It is not very strange; for mine uncle is King of Denmark, and those that would make mouths at him when my father lived, give twenty, forty, fifty, a hundred ducats apiece for his picture in little". he seizes, with a show of contempt, a miniature of This is called "a pitiful piece of stage realism, as antag onistic to probability as to poetry."-We recur to this subject for the purpose of saying that this criticish seems to us unsound. The stage business referred to—seh as it is—is not original with Mr. Fechter. It is an aid device. Mr. Booth has often employed it, and with excellent effect. Mr. Barry Sullivan uses it. And we have an impression that it could be traced back to Mr. Macready. And, old or new, it occurs to a as with Rosencrantz and Guildenstern, and suspicious of heir designs; and his excitable, tremulous mind has altady begun to utter itself in the wild way, half natural half assumed, which is consonant to its condition. His immediate theme is the condition of the players who se at hand, but his thoughts are all the while busy with the usurpation and incestuous iniquity of his uncle. The sight of that uncle's portrait depending from the neck of see of his emissaries and spies, might well prompt the thought that Hamlet utters, on the change instimes and aftirs. And, as to the action of taking hold of the picture-it iliustrative; it gives emphasis to the remark; and i has especial meaning and force to the spectator. However fine and lofty the poetry of a drama may be, whenthat drama is put upon the stage it must be illustrated by action; and, if this be not allowed, the drama my as well be kept in the closet, and there enjoyed in quit perusal "at the latter end of a sea-coal fire."

After the conclusion of these meetings, iwas designed to hold social family worship each evening a by o'clock, in the East Parior of the building, for the especial benefit of those young men who have been accusticed to religious worship at home, and who do not find the opportunity for such worship at heir boarding houses. Mr. Perkins, the finist teacher of the Association, reported all his classes as doing exceedingly well, and the President urged all young men who lave any taste for music to avail themselves of the opputunity to secure valuable instruction in this matter. The Lecture Committee reported that they had sceired courses of lectures for all the Friday evenings of January, February, and March. The course for January, consisting of four lectures, will be given by Dr. Dorenman, string of four lectures, will be given by Dr. Dorenman, pared." The tickets for this course will be $5.00 $150 for a single admission, the proceeds to be devoted to paying for the furniture of the new building. These lectures will be abundantly illustrated by interesting esperiments. The courses for February and march will is free to members. The Literary Committee propose to give a public display of the results of their labors in January next, and announced that a class in English literature was about to be formed, which members were invited to join. The Classes in French, Gernan, and bookkeeping are reported as doing well. The Rev. Dr. Potter of Grace Church being invited to address the meeting, remarked that thus magnificent building, with all that it contained, was to him the realization of a dream of many years. The second afray occurred at Lloyd's Neck between a colored man named Freeman, and a white man maked Edward Darcy. The former had been paying his attentions to a mulatto girl in the village for some time, when Darcy stepped in and caused the say of the maid.

This led to frequent disputes between the rival lovers, and ultimately Freeman attempted to shoot Darcy, but the cap did not explode, and he then knocked Darcy down and clubbed him so terriby that he is not expected to recover. Freeman fled and has not yet been apprehended.

OBITUARY.

FREDERICK S. COZZENS. Frederick Swartwout Cozzens, the author of "The Sparrowgrass Papers," died at his residence in Brooklyn, last Thursday. He was born in New-York on the 5th of March, 1818, was educated here, and has always lived in or near the city. Although engaged during most of his adult years in mercantile pursuits, he spent most of his leisure hours in the pleasures of authorship, wrote for The Knickerbocker during its best days, and in 1853 collected a volume of his contributions to that periodical under the title "Prismatics, by Richard Haywarde." To some of the earlier numbers of the old series of Putnam's Magazine, he sent the famous "Sparrowgrass Papers," (reprinted in book form in 1856) which gave him a reputation as one of the first American humorists of his day. Professing to describe the misadventures of a city man, who with wild and unpractical views the Hudson, the book struck the key-note of very common experience, and became the parent of whole broods of similar books and periodical essays which soon drove the really humorous Sparrowgrass out of fashion. Until it was done to death by weak imitators, Mr. Cozzens's volume was a very notable literary success. He pubtitled "Acadia, a Sojourn Among the Blue Noses." Mr. Cozzens at this time was a wine merchant in New-York, and occupied a pleasant home on the Hudson, just below the village of Yonkers, where the scene of Mr. Sparrowgrass's experience was laid. He published a little paper called The Wine-Press, devoted chiefly to the interests of the trade, and enlivened by many readable essays in the pleasant and easy style of which he was a master. Some time ago, however, he failed in business and removed to Brooklyn, where he has tatterly employed himself as a desultory writer for the press.

Dr. Thomas Clarkson Moffatt died, at his ate residence on Staten Island, on Sunday. Dr. Moffatt entered the Seamen's Retreat Hospital in 1851, and was its Physician-in-Chief for more than fifteen years. He was also for many years Vice-President of the Richmond County Medical Society, and Visiting Surgeon of the Smith Infirmary. He was also Village and School Trustee, Elder of the First Presbyterian Church, Director of the Young Men's Christian Association, Edgewater, and held many other positions of honor and trust.

Mr. N. P. Howell of Sag Harbor died on Monday morning. He was a wealthy, and highly respected citizen. For many years he has been engaged in the whole fishery from this point.

THE ITALIAN SCHOOL CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL One of the most interesting and benevelent nstitutions in this city is the Italian School at No. 44 Franklin-st. It was established several years ago in the neighborhood of the Five Points by Mr. A. E. Cerqua, under the auspices of the Children's Aid Society. It has met with great success, so much so that the Italian Government has favorably noticed it. For several years it occupied a room at No. 110 Centre-st., but recently it was emoved to the present location, at No. 44 Franklin-st. Francisco Minstrels have "The Cart-Off Giant'en exhi- Last evening the friends of the Institution gave the pupils a festival at the old hall in Centre-st. Every foot of space was occupied, and among he audience were the Italian Consul, Judge Kickland, Messrs, Whitehead and Booth of the Children's Aid Society, and Prof. Botta, Mr. Ceccarini, and Mr. Tabbri. After a hymn by the little ones, President Booth of the Children's Aid Society spoke about Venice and what he saw in Italy. He was followed by Prof. Botta, who delivered a short address in Italian. Then came the preentation of presents. The rear end of the hall was packed with mothers and their babes. It was impossible for visitors to move, but the children managed to form in the aiales and murch up to the stage and receive their gifts. This ceremony occupied more than an hour. IThere were two sarge Christmas frees laden with aweetmeats and toys, while scores of wax tapers shone among the were two large Christians trees laden with sweetmeats and toys, while scores of wax lapers shone among the boughs. Over the platform the Stars and Stripes and the Italian colors were intertwined. The girls received dolls, cake, candy, scarfs, hats, and line boys were supplied with shoes, toys, caps, and scarfs. These articles were all of the best quality and must have cost a large sum of money. A tun of coal was presented to each of the boys who have attended school the year, and a half tun to those who stand next on the roll of merit. The benevolent ladies who had charge of the festival are doing a good work and are meeting with much encouragement.

Mr. Lorillard informed a TRIBUNE reporter, yesterday afternoon, that he doubted very much the truth of the report of the loss of the Meteor, and thinks that if such a disaster had befalien the yacht, his brother, who commanded her, would have sent him a telegram. Mr. Lorillard is of opinion that the dispatch, which was first sent from Paris to the United States, was in substance transmitted to London, and from the latter place was returned to the press here, yesterday, and published. He expects advices from his brother to-day, being perfectly natural and thoroughly good. Hamlet, which will clear up the doubt; but until news is received om some more reliable source than heretofore, Mr. Lorillard thinks that the Meteor is safe, and that the loss of the British yacht Deerhound has been misunderstood for that of the Meteor. The Deerhound, it may be remembered, was the tender to the English-Confederate corsair Alabama, and picked up her commander, and a portion of the officers and crew, when the Alabama sank down, and sailed away from the Kearsarge.

OPERATIONS OF A CINCINNATI MERCHANT. Recently a member of the firm of H. B. laffin & Co. of this city, made affidavit before District-Attorney Garvin that David Josephs, a merchant, doing Business in Cincinnati, had procured from them $60,000 worth of goods on credit, by means of false pretonses. worth of goods on credit, by means of false pretenses. The firm claim that Josephs assured them he was worth $15,000 over and above all indebtedness, and that he was doing a flourshing business. These representations, the firm say, are false in every particular. These allegations were submitted to the Grand Jury, and an indictment was found against Josephs. A requisition on Gov. Hayes of One for the surrender of Josephs was obtained from Gov. Hoffman: and, armed with this document, Detective Officer Duschberry visited Cincinnati and on Thursday last arrested Josephs at his place of business. He was brought to this city, and yesterday taken before District Attorney Garvin, who committed him to the Tombs to await a trial.

LABOR MOVEMENTS.

The members of the German Workingmen's Union are making arrangements for a course of free lee tures to workingmen this Winter.

The Brooklyn Hackmen have formed a socie ty for protective and benevolent purposes. Two informal meetings have been held, and a constitution and by laws trafted.

At the meeting of the New-York Cooperative

Building Lot Association last evening, $475 in subscriptions were received and the books for the past-year declared closed. The eigar-makers employed at No. 15 Cedar-st., to the number of 20, went on strike yesterday, in con-sequence of a reduction of $2 per 1,000 on the best brands, and $1 on ordinary stock. The Knights of St. Crispin of this city are to be called upon this week to indorse a bill to be presented at the next session of the Legislature, asking for the abolition of the prison contract system. Nearly all branches of business, and particularly the building trade is musually dull, and thousands of men are seeking employment. A cutting down of wages for cigar-makers, whose trade is also unusually dull, is hinted. The Lightermen of Brooklyn, at their meeting last night, reported trade as quiet, collected $35 from members, and admitted three new ones, and appointed Messrs. John Reed, Charles Shepperd, and Edward Nel-son an investigating Committee for a term of six months. The members of the New-York Cooperative The intermedist of the Average Tork Cooperative Clothing Cutters' Tatioring Establishment met last evening, and made the first payment of stock dues. The money thus paid will be placed in bank until a sufficient sum is secured to start in business, and on these payments an interest of four per cent will be allowed.

Bricklayers' Protective Union No. 3 of Wil-Brickinyers Protective Union NO, 3 of Wil-immodurgh were in seasion last evening, and instructed the delegates to the National Convention to bring before that body the subject of front and "rough" work, and appointed a Committee to confer with Union No. 26 as to the best means to obtain a repeal of the conspiracy law and a modification of the apprentice law. Five new members and $60 were received.

The body of an unknown man was discovered by some boys in the woods, at Orange Mountain, near the estate of Gen. McCiellan, on Sunday, the 12th Subbath-breakers and gamblers assembled at Hayes's inst. A pistol was found near the body, and the wounds Hotel, in Jamaics, on Sunday afternoon, and while gamb- upon different parts were such as might have been caused Kurt as that of the missing boarder, and an inquest was ordered. But Kurt acted in a manner so suspicious that it began to be believed that he was in some way concerned in the death of the man whose body he had come to claim. Warrants were issued for his arrest and for the arrest of other suspected persons. The investigation will be made to day.

Phalon's "Vitalia;" Or, Salvation for the Hair.

FOR RESTORING TO GRAY HAIR ITS ORIGINAL COLOR.

PHALON'S "VITALIA" differs atterly from all the "dyes," "cof orers," and "restorers" (1) in use. It acts on a totally different prisciple. It is limpid, fragrant, and perfectly innocuous, precipitates no muddy or flaceulent matter, requires no shaking up, and communicates no stain to the akin or the linen. No paper curtain is necessary to comceal its turbid appearance, for the simple reason that if is not surbid. It is to all futents and purposes a NEW DISCOVERY in Tollet Chemistry. For sale by all druggists. PHALON & SON, New York.
